Vet Recommended Pet Food

As you all know, the health and safety of our 4-legged family is our top priority here at PART. Everyone here including our ardent members, supporters, and vets work hard to ensure that they are provided the proper nourishment to ensure that they prosper and grow healthy, happy, and strong. All our furbabies are monitored from their behavior, how they interact with each other and with the members that visit them, and most importantly, their food intake. As we work with our vets that look after them, we've been advised that some of them have had an allergic reaction to certain dog food especially the following brands:

1. Bow Wow
2. Good Boy
3. Pet Food Station
4. Any dog food or cat formula that contains corn

To this extent, we ask that if you plan on donating dog food, it would be to the best interest of our furbabies if we can avoid the brands listed above. And, as you all know, switching from one brand to another causes digestive difficulties including upset stomach, vomiting, diarrhea, and refusal to eat. So to keep our furbabies happy and healthy, the brands listed below are the ones recommended by our vets:

1. Royal Canin
2. Blue Buffalo
3. Eukanuba
4. Holistic
5. Vitality
6. Optima Lamb & Beef
7. Optima Beef Pro
8. Orijen
9. Science Diet
10. Cat Cuisine
